

r/ObsidianMD

Posts

Posted by u/scriptosens 6 months ago

1 how do you work on github readme files in Obsidian?

I want to prepare several inter-connected markdown files, later to be placed into a git repository. How to do that in the most efficient way to avoid broken links, unsupported syntax, etc.?

Previously I did that using some online markdown editor, but shouldn't it be easier with Obsidian?

1 Comment Share ...

Comment as chaoabordo212

What are your thoughts?

B i @ 🔗 <c> A^ ⚠ | ↑↓ ≡ 1/2/3 ...

Markdown Mode

Comment

Sort By: Best ▾

🔍 Search comments

sapoeepsilon · 6 mo. ago

Use git plugin in Obsidian. There are settings that would sync your file with git, each time you'd edit your file. And would pull updates every time when you open Obsidian.

I sync my entire notes this way, and after some twerking it is the only way I sync my notes across all of my devices.

↑ 1 ↓ 💬 Reply Share ...